One Man Heroically Sacrifices His Life in an Attempt to Rescue Little Ones from Blaze Started by Harlem Firebug on Feast Day of St. Anthony of Padua, Patron of Fire.

An incendiary fire, the second of its kind in three weeks, caused the deaths of four children and a man early to-day in the four-story tenement at No. 347 East One Hundred and Thirteenth street. Half a dozen others were se riously burned and many more narrow-

A coincidence of fate brought this fire in the heart of Little Italy on this, the feast day of St. Anthony of Padua, the patron saint of fire. St. Anthony is the favorite Italian saint, and to him to-day thousands of the residents of Little Italy turned in supplication. Some of them now say that he answered their prayers and saved many others from
